

Next Game – See you this Saturday Afternoon at 1.20pm at Eastlakes Kingston with other members of the Tiger Army.

Campbell earns AFLPA honour – richmondafc.com.au

Seth Campbell's outstanding 2025 season has been recognised by the AFLPA.

Seth Campbell has been recognised for his breakout 2025 campaign, being named in the AFL Players' Association's 22Under22 Squad, presented by Intrepid.

The squad has been chosen by Chair of Selectors, Leigh Montagna, and an internal selection panel at the AFL Players' Association, with support from Champion Data. To be eligible for the 40-man squad, a player is required to play 50 per cent of the home and away season, equating to 12 matches.

The final team of 22 will be determined by a fan vote, and the Tiger Army can vote for Campbell now, by clicking here. Voting closes on August 13, with the team to be announced on August 20.

Campbell has become one of the most dangerous small forwards in the competition, with his smarts, awareness, energy and pressure in the attacking zone staples of his game.

The 20-year-old leads Richmond's goal kicking heading into Round 22 with 23 majors, with Campbell recording multiple goals in nine games, including two bags of three (Round 4 and 11).

Amongst forwards, Campbell ranks equal-sixth in the AFL for pressure acts, which highlights his importance to the Tigers.

Campbell recently committed to Richmond long-term, signing a contract extension until at least the end of 2029.

Campbell was selected in the 2022 AFL Rookie Draft but missed most of his debut 2023 season with injury, before becoming a regular across the past two seasons.

It is Campbell's first selection in the AFLPA 22Under22 Squad. Click here to vote for him to make the final team.

Injury Report – Week 22 – richmondafc.com.au

Richmond has ruled out first-year player Jonty Faull for the remainder of the season following the knee injury he suffered on Saturday.

This Injury Report is brought to you by nib. With nib, life could be potentially amazing.

Faull injured his left knee in the early stages of the loss to Gold Coast, with scans confirming an injury to his medial ligament.

The key forward has had a terrific debut season, overcoming a limited pre-season due to a back stress injury to feature in 16 consecutive games after his AFL debut in Gather Round.

Faull booted 9.18 and averaged 2.75 marks per game, including 15 contested marks, which ranked the teenager #3 at Richmond.

The 19-year-old will not require surgery on his knee and will be back running prior to the return of pre-season.

CAPITAL TIGERS

Roar Roundup – Week 22

for the
TIGER
ARMY

Tim Taranto: Calf, Available

“Tim did really well in his test last week, but to take a precautionary approach, we decided to hold him back, and he should be available this week,” High Performance Manager Ben Serpell said.

Mykelti Lefau: Calf, 1-3 weeks

“Mykelti has turned the corner this week, and we are expecting him to be available in about one to three weeks,” Serpell said.

Liam Fawcett: Ankle, 1-3 weeks

Oliver Hayes-Brown: Hamstring 1-3 weeks

“Liam is doing quite well,” Serpell said.

“He came in for an extra footy session yesterday with a few of the other rehab guys, as did Ollie Hayes-Brown, so both of them are expected to be back in about one to three weeks.”

Kane McAuliffe: Quad, 3-5 weeks

“Kane is starting to progress a little bit now, and we are expecting to see him back in about three to five weeks,” Serpell said.

Campbell Gray: Knee, 3-5 weeks

“Campbell Gray should start some change of direction work this week, and hopefully we see him out doing a little bit more footy next week and returning to play in about three to five weeks,” Serpell said.

Samson Ryan: Foot, 3-5 weeks

“Samson Ryan is also getting through a bit of work and we are happy to say that he should be available for our final round of the year,” Serpell said.

Josh Smillie: Conditioning, TBC

“Unfortunately for Smillie, he didn’t quite get through training last week,” Serpell said.

“He is still pulling up a little bit sore, and as it turns out, he has succumbed to the virus that is going through the Club at the moment.

“So, he hasn’t been able to get through training fully for the last week or so.

“We aren’t interested in pushing him at this stage of the year, and we will continue to work with him over the next little while and try and increase his footy loads where possible and make sure we are doing the right thing by him for the long-term.”

Jonty Faulk: MCL, Season

“That was unfortunate for Jonty. He has had a great year so far,” Serpell said.

“Scans earlier in the week confirmed that he had a high-grade medial collateral ligament, so that will be his season done.”

Thomson Dow: Patella, Season

“Dowy has also turned the corner a little bit, but just given the time of year we are ready to call it now and say that he isn’t going to be available this season,” Serpell said.

Match Review – Gold Coast Suns – Week 21 – afl.com.au

Suns torch two-goal Tigers, top-four finish in sight

Percentage-boosting win has Gold Coast dreaming of a double chance in debut finals series

GOLD Coast ensured there would be no repeat of its earlier season upset loss to Richmond, romping to an 84 -point win over the Tigers at People First Stadium on Saturday.

The Suns held their opponents goalless in the first half and stormed home with 10 second-half goals to win 16.11 (107) to 2.11 (23).

SUNS v TIGERS Full match coverage and stats

It moves them into fifth position, with Fremantle a chance to jump them on Sunday, with a 13-6 win-loss record.

For much of the contest it was a scrappy affair, but after half-time, the Suns clicked into gear, punishing the young Tigers as they ran out of legs.

Like so often in 2025, Noah Anderson (38 disposals, eight clearances) and Matt Rowell (27, 12 clearances and nine tackles) led the way with a magnificent midfield display.

They dominated the one part of the ground Richmond had experience, giving the Suns a 37-24 clearance advantage and leading to 56 inside 50s to 34.

Touk Miller made a successful return after missing the past two matches with a hamstring injury, power running his way to 25 disposals that included eight score involvements, before being tactically subbed off early in the final quarter.

After being handed their first loss of the season by the Tigers in round six, the Suns jumped from the blocks to lead by 24 points at the first change.

Richmond did not kick its first goal until the third minute of the second half, courtesy of Harry Armstrong, but that seemed to spark the Suns to their best football of the day.

With Carlton, Greater Western Sydney, Port Adelaide and Essendon to come, the Suns are on the brink of qualifying for their first Finals game in history.

Umpire contact – but who’s at fault?

Match Review Officer Michael Christian has a difficult umpire contact incident to assess following a heavy third quarter collision. After bouncing the ball in the middle of the ground, the adjudicating umpire was cleaned up by Richmond skipper Toby Nankervis and was lucky Jarrod Witts didn’t land directly on him as he lay on the ground. Replays showed the bounce went almost back over the umpire’s head, making it difficult for him to reverse out of the traffic.

Lightning strikes twice in a month

Well, maybe not lightning, but for the second time in four matches Gold Coast has kept an opponent goalless in the first half. In the Friday night win over Collingwood in round 18, the Suns kept the Magpies to 0.8, as the visitors missed a number of gilt-edged chances to get on the board. Similar happened for Richmond, going to the break with 0.5 after butchering a host of gettable shots. In between times, Adelaide kept Gold Coast without a goal in the opening half of round 19. Odd time, indeed.

CAPITAL TIGERS

Roar Roundup – Week 22

for the
TIGER
ARMY

Vlastuin continues push for maiden All-Australian

His team might have been thumped, but it wasn't because of Nick Vlastuin. The man with more intercept possessions than anyone in the AFL racked up another 11 against the Suns. From the opening minutes he was magnificent, cutting off Gold Coast forward entries and sweeping up anything within his vicinity. Vlastuin's only mistake came during the second quarter when he sprayed a set shot in a rare jaunt forward. Could this be the year the 31-year-old gets his first All-Australian blazer? He has to be right in the frame.

|                   |     |     |      |             |
|-------------------|-----|-----|------|-------------|
| GOLD COAST | 4.1 | 6.5 | 11.9 | 16.11 (107) |
| RICHMOND   | 0.1 | 0.5 | 1.8  | 2.11 (23)   |

GOALS

Gold Coast: King 4, Humphrey 3, Read 2, Long 2, Farrar 2, Fiorini, Andrew, Ainsworth

Richmond: Armstrong, Mansell

BEST

Gold Coast: Anderson, Rowell, Miller, Collins, Fiorini

Richmond: Vlastuin, Banks, Ross, Short

INJURIES

Gold Coast: Nil

Richmond: Jonty Faull (knee)

SUBSTITUTES

Gold Coast: Nick Holman (replaced Touk Miller in the fourth quarter)

Richmond: Kamdyn McIntosh (replaced Faull in the first quarter)

Crowd: 14,841 at People First Stadium

VFL Match Review – Gold Coast Suns – Richmondfc.com.au

Young Tigers overcome by Suns

Richmond was unable to claw back against the Suns on the Gold Coast.

Richmond was unable to make up an early deficit against Gold Coast on Saturday, going down by 17 points at People First Stadium.

It was a slow start that cost the young Tigers, who fought gallantly in the second half, but were unable to make up the difference away from home.

Jacob Blight and Massimo Raso scored early in the first term through promising passages of play, as Richmond held off the 15th-placed Suns.

But the tide turned in the favour of Gold Coast in the second quarter, as they held Richmond goalless, while piling on six majors of their own.

Sam Grlj stood tall in a difficult first half, recording eight disposals in the opening term, while Mutaz El Nour had seven touches and three intercept possessions at the main break.

Gold Coast took a 36-point lead into half time, before a revitalised Richmond began an important fight back, kicking three unanswered goals in the third.

With the margin now just 21 points in the Suns' favour, Richmond managed to outscore the home side in the fourth quarter, but it wasn't enough to see them to victory.

Harry Scott was strong with 22 disposals, followed by Lachy Wilson's 20 touches and skipper Lachlan Street's 18.

Mohammed Yassine top scored for the Tigers with three goals to his name, while Nick Girolami had two majors of his own.

Richmond still sit in finals contention with two home-and-away games left. They'll host Sandringham next Saturday night at Kinetic Stadium, Frankston.

AFLW – Tigers downed by Hawks in practice match – Richmondfc.com.au

Richmond has suffered a 37-point loss to Hawthorn in a practice match at IKON Park.

Richmond has gone down to Hawthorn, 10.15 (75) to 6.2 (38), in the final practice match before the AFLW season begins.

It was a hot football early at IKON Park, with Hawthorn controlling the play out of the centre of the ground.

Katelyn Cox quickly weathered the storm with her defensive pressure on the football, along with impressive intercept marking.

Gabby Seymour turned the tide with a fantastic run through half-forward, lacing out Paige Scott, who took a leaping contested mark 30 meters out. Scott went back and kicked the first major of the day, giving Richmond an early lead.

Libby Graham led the way for the back line, taking a crucial goal-saving tackle late in the quarter.

However, the Hawks' forward pressure was too strong, as they booted the next four goals to take the lead heading into the first break.

Monique Conti sparked energy back into the group with a penetrating kick from the centre square to inside the attacking 50 at the start of the second.

With the ball locked inside Richmond's forward 50, skipper Katie Brennan marked a high-flying ball on the goal-square line to kick the side's second major of the game.

In a back-and-forth contest, Ellie McKenzie took charge, plucking a contested mark 40 meters out and slotted it home with a strong kick off her left boot.

Momentum swung in Richmond's favour after a run from Conti at half forward, where she broke through stoppage and kicked a goal from 50 meters out, cutting the lead back to 17 points at the main break.

It was an arm wrestle coming out of the half-time, with Kate Dempsey finding space and dribble-kicking one through for a goal to bring the margin back to 12 points. However, the Hawks quickly responded with one of their own.

Both sides finished with one major heading in the fourth term, with the Tigers down and in need of a 20-point turnaround.

However, the Hawks proved too strong out of the middle once again, piling on the first three goals of the last quarter and extending their lead.

Ally Dallaway tried to will on her side, working hard to win the ball around stoppage, earning much-needed ground for her team.

Richmond's relentless pressure never wavered, with Cox competing hard to win the ball at ground level whilst Caitlin Greiser stood tall in the last, clearing the ball outside of the defensive fifty.

The Tigers worked their way up the ground, where Scott found Conti with a thumping kick, resulting in a shot on goal.

In the dying moments of the match, Maddie Shevlin took a mark inside Richmond's attacking 50 around 40 meters out, where she lined up and slotted a nice goal after the siren.

Shevlin's goal made it a 37-point defeat, with the final score reading 75-38 in favour of the Hawks.

The side finished with six individual goal scores in Brennan, Scott, Conti, McKenzie, Dempsey and Shevlin all kicking majors.

The Tigers will now turn their focus to Round 1, where they travel to Sydney to take on the Swans, scheduled for Friday 15 August from 6:15pm at North Sydney Oval.

You can purchase tickets for the 2025 season here.